SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

While a huge storm covers the Middle West and the Great Plains Region, a high pressure cell and fair-weather have moved into the Intermountain Region and Northern Rockies, and a rising temperature trend is scheduled for this area over the weekend.

A storm over the northeastern Pacific Ocean is slowly approaching the coast, but pressures are expected to remain fairly high over most of the Intermountain Region, minimizing the effect of this storm in southern Idaho. It is expected to cause high cloudiness to increase over this area Saturday and Sunday, but little or no precipitation is expected in the agricultural valleys. Southerly winds will become moderately strong over much of southern Idaho by Sunday.

In Magic Valley, Thursday afternoon temperatures were again in the lower 30s, but last night was colder, with lows ranging from 6 above at Rupert and Castleford to 11 at Twin Falls and Jerome. Fairfield recorded 26 yesterday and -19 last night under a clear sky.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

High pressure will be predominant over the Western States for the next few days but will weaken enough to let one or two Pacific storms to move into the Pacific Northwest during the first half of next week.

Temperatures Saturday through Wednesday will average two to five degrees above normal in southcentral Idaho. A moderating trend will continue through Monday or Tuesday, followed by some cooling by Wednesday. Normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding 46-25, Twin Falls 48-28 and Burley 47-25.

A chance of light snow is indicated for the mountains in northern and western parts of southern Idaho about Sunday, and some rain or snow may be expected over most of southern Idaho about Tuesday, with .05 to .15 of an inch of moisture likely in the agricultural valleys.

Winds will be moderately strong at times from the east and south Sunday through Tuesday, becoming westerly about Wednesday. Sunshine should average between 50 and 60 per cent of possible with considerable cloudiness early next week.

2 Men Face "Last Chance" Operation

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two former athletes trade three-quarter inch cubes of cancer tissue today in the first major step of an experiment that might prolong their lives.

Robert F. Allen, 28, of Tucson, Ariz., who played college football, and Harry T. Griffith, 63, of Flourtown, Pa., a former professional baseball player, hope to help each other combat almost certain death from a rare type of bone cancer.

Both suffer from osteogenic sarcoma. Griffith was picked for the operation because his blood type — B-positive — matched Allen's.

Doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute are taking the segments of cancer tissue from each man and transplanting them into an opening in the other's thigh.

Doctors chose to remove the tissue from Allen's right lung and from the area of Griffith's collar bone.

Dr. Sigmond H. Nadler, associate chief cancer research surgeon at Roswell Park, the state's cancer research and treatment center, said it is hoped that resistance or homograft rejection to the transplanted cancer will build up in each patient.

The resistance, carried by white blood cells, would then be carried back to the original cancer tissue in each man by transfusion of their blood.

Allen, an insurance broker and father of three, has been given two to six months to live by his doctors.

Griffith, told he had "a very short time to live," first learned of his own condition after Allen's story of his fight to live was told by The Associated Press last weekend.

Directors of Youth Ranch Challenged

RUPERT — The board of directors of the Idaho Youth Ranch have been challenged to donate $100 each to be used as matching funds for the ranch by acting executive director Thomas Herbert.

He said board donations are to be used to match funds pledged by a charitable foundation which earlier pledged a $10,000 donation, to be used for the benefit of the boys, providing the board could solicit matching funds by July 1 of this year.

Donations have been acknowledged from the Mothers club of the First Christian Church, Rupert; from the Alameda Sun-day School, Pocatello, which donated their $2,000 balance when they disbanded; Country Music Jamboree, E. C. Montgomery, Hazleton, Shields Foundation, Hester Thresher, Massachusetts and Pocatello Scottish Rites. These funds all are to be used for matching funds, the acting director said.

Also to be used as matching funds are pledges of material and labor. O. C. Miller, New York City, has volunteered to completely furnish a library in the new living unit; Self Manufacturing, Twin Falls, has donated structural steel for the new living unit, and Self's employees have pledged a day's services for the work involved.

Dan Daniels Roofing, also Twin Falls, has pledged half of the shingles required for the new unit, including installation, and McCaslin Lumber, Burley, will provide the other half.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Jack Kennedy once confided to a bunch of newsmen that he didn't want "a Statesman" as his press secretary if he made it to the White House. "He'd spend too much time taking himself seriously," Kennedy suggested.

It was not surprising then that Kennedy chose as his official flack the roly-poly Pierre Salinger, who was as knowledgeable of affairs of state as anyone on the Kennedy team, but who wisely left the proclamations to his boss and confined his not inconsiderable talents in informing the press. Like President Eisenhower's press agent, Jim Hagerty, the amiable Salinger preferred to "speak only when the President can't speak for himself."

WOULD REFORM THE UNREFORMABLE

In contrast, the current White House drum-beater, a reformed divinity student named Billy Don Moyers, seems determined to play the role of the nagging wife. Moyers is young and may recover in time from the discovery that he is a celebrity, but at this writing his pompous and curiously paternal lectures to the press have the effect on me of a horse doctor's dose of castor oil.

Lately, Moyers seems to spend most of his time — when he is not running the war in Viet Nam or solving inflation — telling Washington reporters how stupid and even corrupt they are. This does not set well with iconoclasts who are so protective of their own images, but I prefer the additional premise that Moyers doesn't know what he's talking about.

RESULT ON NEWS MANAGEMENT

Moyers' most recent speech, for example, accuses the White House press of being only a "keyhole" view of what goes on in Lyndon Johnson's private principality. According to Moyers, we aren't well-informed enough to comment on such grand doings. This argument, of course, I reject out of hand. Reporters have ways of digging up news that Moyers won't give them, and they will have them when Moyers has become only a footnote to history.

But the damning point is that, by mouthing such remarks, Moyers is condemning himself, not the press. If he finds our "keyhole" view of his master's activities inadequate, he has only to open the door so we can see better. It's Moyers' job to keep the free press informed, not some anonymous gossip-peddler learning against the bar in Mike's place.

RECKLESS CHARGE

Moyers has also remarked, with graciousness reminiscent of the pool halls of my youth, that newspapermen are much like politicians: "When they're bought, they stay bought."

I do not particularly mind being compared to a politician. Not all politicians are congenital idiots and some of them occasionally practice a kind of furtive, half-hearted honesty. Besides, as a newspaperman and therefore resident in a glass house, I must expect a certain amount of rock-throwing. But I hope Moyers smiled when he mouthed that bit about being bought, because the average Washington reporter could have retired to Acapulco years ago had he possessed the morals of the average Washington politician — including some who hang their hats in the White House.

It is said that Bill Moyers wants out of the press secretary's job, that he finds the duties incompatible with his desire to — as he once put it — "invest my talents in the broadest possible river." No, I will not design to comment on the wetness of that particular line. But perhaps the time has come for Lyndon Johnson to release Moyers from his icksome duties. Surely it is within Johnson's power to set up a new office for this precocious young man. It could be called "common scold."

Views of Others

FRUSTRATED BY THE FBI?

The Department of Justice prosecution of Las Vegas gamblers may be frustrated because of its own FBI indulged in electronic gaves-dropping. Edward Levinson, a casino operator, has filed a $6,000,000 damage suit, charging that agents invaded his privacy by "bugging" his office.

Wire-tapping, strictly speaking is not involved although Levinson does say that telephone wires were used to connect microphones with listening posts. Levinson's chief point is that the "bug" had been planted by trespass.

The law will not recognize evidence obtained by trespass or the fruits of trespass. If anything, this is clearer than the federal ban against the interception and divulging of telephone conversations. And it is no help, of course, if the department's lawyers were unaware of how evidence was obtained.

A suit filed by a Levinson associate seeks injunctions against the use of "bugs" in five of the gambling resort's better known casino hotels. There is, therefore, the possibility not only that the government may be "thrown out of court," but also that it may be commanded to obey the law it is supposed to enforce. There would not be much dignity in such a spectacle.

THE COPPER SQUEEZE

President Johnson bullyrugged the U.S. copper industry into rescinding a boost in prices. But other factors are working to put such ex-legal presidential action to the rest of the venerable universal law of supply and demand.

Developers in Africa have set the world price of copper soaring. When Great Britain began threatening sanctions against independence-bound Rhodesia last July, copper was quoted in London at about $1,100 a ton. Now it is near $1,900, an increase of more than 70 per cent. Reason is that The Congo and Zambia, major sources of copper, are paying much more for copper production because of embargo complications involving the boycott of neighboring Rhodesia.

Strikes in Chile, source of much copper used in this country, and military demands in Viet Nam add to the world copper market squeeze. The U.S. position was made clear by the quiet order that went out the other day from the Department of Commerce establishing new copper export controls, which, in effect, ban virtually all shipments abroad of ore or other unrefined copper. The act was taken to conserve U.S. supplies of the metal. Secretary of Defense McNamara has predicted that military copper needs will increase 100 per cent within the year.

This year's elections may mark a turning point in Idaho politics because it will be crystal clear to leaders in both parties that they need new names and new faces. They'll also ponder the need for unity, but politics being politics, it's virtually impossible to eliminate factionalism. About all anyone can hope is that the various segments of a party try to wash their dirty linen in private. That will be a major project for both Democrats and Republicans in the long months of running that lie ahead prior to Idaho's general election.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Q — I am 16 and small-busted. If anything can be done about this, I hope it can be done now, before I'm too old.

A — I get many letters complaining about the size of the breasts. Whether they are too large or too small, 99 per cent are actually within the normal range and would not be considered unusual by anyone except the possessor.

Some girls are slow starters and at 16 do not yet have their full breast development, so I would advise you not to panic, especially since little can be done about it except plastic surgery and that is often unsatisfactory.

Techniques and materials for this purpose are being improved but are still far from ideal.

It has been truly said that enlarging the breasts is not another victim of arbitrary presidential price control — the aluminum industry.

A world shortage of copper and the inevitable higher prices spell competitive opportunity for aluminum.

And it all spells possible frustration for the housewife looking for a cheap, new sauceman — The Oregonian.

Q — I am a widow, 53. Five years ago my left breast was removed, followed by X-ray treatments. Ever since then my left arm has been swollen and tender. What can be done to make it more comfortable?

A — Your arm has enlarged because in removing the breast, the lymphatic vessels draining your arm were also removed.

Normal drainage is usually re-established after four or five months but may take longer.

Make sure your sleeves are loose at all times and avoid wearing rings or bracelets on

Keeping your left arm elevated as much of the time as possible and moving your fingers and wrists vigorously several times a day will aid in establishing normal drainage.

Sit beside your dressing table at night, elevate your elbow on a few books, then, keeping your head erect, brush and comb your hair with your left arm.

These and other exercises have helped many others like you and are described in "Help Yourself to Recovery," which you can get by writing to the American Cancer Society (521

West 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019) or to the local branch in your city.

Q — I have a skin condition that my doctor says is mycosis fungoidea. Is it serious? Is there any cure for it?

A — This is a slowly evolving malignant skin disease that is characterized by multiple tumors of widely varied appearance.

The cause is unknown. Early treatment with X-ray will sometimes cure it. A recent report states that a radioactive sulfur drug taken by mouth will control this disease.

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Ousted Kwame Nkrumah, self-styled redeemer of Ghana, luxuriated in a palace outside Accra where his claws were often changed to bleeding nails.

Ghana was the first new African state (1958) to establish diplomatic ties with the USSR. Then Red China moved in. Then Nkrumah's own henchmen proved as reliable as a 10-cent clock. And they moved in on him. Bye-bye Nkrumah. But now hello, who, and who, and who?

Other leaders' local rivals have staged similar ousters in Africa at the rate of one every two weeks for the past three months.

In the Central African Republic Col. Bedel Bokassa announced at 3:20 a.m. on Jan. 1 that he had moved into the presidential palace. President David Dacko had moved out — at the point of Bokassa's bazooka.

It seems that luckless Dacko had denounced the ostentatious ing, inventory — loading and hoarding — had been prevalent. The January leveling-off of living costs could not have occurred.

Most particularly, it could not have occurred in a month when unemployment dropped to a nine-year low of 4 per cent. Price pressures tend to rise when almost the whole labor force is drawing paychecks.

In fact, no industrial country has been able to prevent a price climb under conditions of high employment. This country's increase of about 1.5 per cent a year have been modest compared with Western Europe's.

If those phenomena do not occur," Ross said, "the situation is not dangerous even with an annual price increase of 2 per cent or more."

Ross and other economists agree that even a considerably stepped-up effort in Viet Nam should have far less impact than did the Korean War on the much smaller U.S. economy of 15 years ago.

So the inflationary phenomena need not happen. They apparently haven't happened yet. Is it too much to hope that, with wise government policy and private self-restraint, they may not happen at all?

In black Africa today the only really profitable career for the Africans is politics.

The major African problem is not nationalism, and certainly no longer colonialism; it is tribalism.

The insurmountable task seems to be to detribalize the individual in order to nationalize him. For usually the tribal attachment is stronger than even the family tie. These ancient little societies obey only the strongest leader, and always have.

Tragically, for the most part, the appealing African leader is the "general" who has literally eaten the heart of a white official during the Stanleyville massacres or at some other outpost of civilization.

The Afro-Asian bloc in the U.N. has nearly a third of the total voting strength. As a result, of course, we do not have collective security in the U.N. We have collective insecurity.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk himself is the authority for the statement: "A two-thirds majority of the General Assembly could be formed by nations with only 10 per cent of the world's population, or who contribute together about five per cent of the U.N.'s assessed budget."

If we swallow the nonsense that this collection is "world opinion," a phrase often used but never defined, and allow it to shape our Viet Nam policy, we would be jolly well out of our minds. We'd better remember that the whole of the U.N. is no better than the total of its parts.

SEVEN IS GOOD AS TRUMP ACE

Today's hand is identical to yesterday's with the exception of two cards. We have transposed the six and seven of hearts in the East and the South hands.

In yesterday's hand the play started with East's queen of spades being allowed to hold the first trick. East returned the nine of spades to his partner's ace and on the third spade lead East discards the ace of diamonds and thereby gets declarer at three no-trump.

With the change of those two cards it is possible for South to make three no-trump in spite of that sensational discard. The play is not one that would ever be made in a regular bridge game but anything goes in bridge problems.

If you haven't figured out the winning line of play, here it is: South wins the third spade

120 Summer Fellowships Are Offered

The General Electric Foundation announced Thursday that it will grant 120 summer fellowships in economics to educators according to Joseph M. Bertotti, foundation secretary, Crotonville, N.Y.

Bertotti said nearly 300 professors, teachers and guidance counselors throughout the United States are slated to receive General Electric Foundation Summer Fellowships.

The grant will cover full tuition, board, room and round-trip travel expenses for 40 junior college and teacher training institution instructors of economics from the West and 80 college instructors of economics from throughout the United States, according to Bertotti.

He said the grants are designed to increase teaching proficiency in the field of economics and guidance counseling, and will be to Stanford University, the University of Chicago and the University of Virginia.

Stanford, part of a new fellowship program, will select recipients of economics fellowships from applications submitted by junior college and teacher training institution instructors of economics from California.

STATISTICS SHOWN

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie pointed Thursday to statistics provided by a national magazine as proof of economic gains in Idaho.

He said Business Week magazine, in a final report for 1965, listed Idaho's personal income total as $1,592,700,000, a gain of 13.9 per cent over that for 1964. Idaho's increase topped those of all other states and compared with a national average of 8.7 per cent, Smylie said.

Theodore John Starkey claims he was denied counsel in pre-trial proceedings. The other inmate, Alvis Wilson, wants a review denied by district court of an alleged error in his trial.

Several cases involve appeals from 11th district court. Two others are from the state's industrial board.

Burley BPW Club Holds Social Meet

BURLEY — A social meeting was held Wednesday evening by the Burley Business and Professional Women's Club members at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Grimsman.

The road to the cabin-and-resort area is about 12 miles long.

Cruise Ship Captain Said Negligent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Coast Guard board concluded Thursday that the skipper of the Yarmouth Castle was negligent and failed to cope with the fiery "debacle" which sank the cruise ship in the Caribbean with a loss of 90 lives.

A belated alarm and hard-to-open stateroom windows were blamed for a large part of the fatalities. The exact cause of the fire could not be pinpointed. The investigating board urged federal and international action to bar old ships with much wood in their superstructures from carrying passengers unless they are modernized.

The 38-year-old Yarmouth Castle, flying the flag of Panama, caught fire and sank Nov. 13, 1963, while on a weekend cruise from Miami to Nassau, the Bahamas. Nearby ships saved 370 lives.

After the fire was discovered and was spreading the captain, Byron Voutsinas, 33, left the ship in a lifeboat. He explained he wanted to go to a nearby ship to ask that an SOS be sent, because his own radio room was in the center of the flames. He testified he later came back to the vessel and helped evacuate passengers, and this was corroborated by the chief engineer.

One of the board's conclusions: "That the decision of the master to leave his ship to allegedly go to the rescue vessel to assure the sending of the distress signal demonstrates negligence, abandonment of command responsibility, and an over-all failure to approach and cope with the difficulties attending the accomplishment of a task of this order of magnitude."

The board found that the fire started in room 610, on the main deck, formerly a toilet space. It said the room contained combustible materials, including mattresses, discarded paneling and broken chairs. It was lighted with a jury-rigged wire connected to a naked bulb.

Hiness Closes Heyburn Schools

HEYBURN — Heyburn schools are closed because of a high rate of absenteeism in the three schools. The schools are expected to open their doors Monday if the rate does not increase.

About 25 per cent of the students were absent, forcing the schools to close.

Six teachers are also out because of the flu.

T.F. Man Jailed For Contempt

NAMPA — A Twin Falls man was sentenced to three days in the city jail by Municipal Court Judge Lon Davis Thursday for contempt of court.

Judge Davis imposed the sentence due to Dennie R. Maw's failure to appear for a trial Wednesday on a charge of driving while unqualified. The defendant changed his plea to guilty on the driving-while-unqualified charge and was fined $35 and costs.

He also paid $59 in previous unpaid fines, a traffic citation and unpaid parking tickets.

MORE KILLED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam has claimed more American combat dead than three previous U.S. wars.

Engineers gunned NERVA (Nuclear Engine for Rocket Vehicle Application) to maximum power for 94 seconds, nosedown on a railroad flatcar. It produced more than 40,000 pounds of thrust.

It also produced 1,125 megawatts of power — as much as Hoover Dam's peak output, officials said.

Despite a midtest shutdown because instruments showed heavy vibration, Milton Klein, deputy manager of the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, said: "It was great. The tests went beautifully."

Engineers later decided the instruments were faulty and that there was no actual vibration.

Klein said NERVA is providing data for construction of flight-weight atomic engines for project Rover, a nuclear rocket program planned for interplanetary space flight in the early 1970s.

Wolves Hold Off Bulldog Rally for 54-47 Victory And Shot at A-4 Title

HANSEN — Castleford, behind the rebounding of Wayne Stahlecker and Nolen Carter, roared to a 15-point lead the end of the first quarter Thursday night, but had to hold off a last-ditch Rockland comeback for a 54-47 victory in sixth district A-4 basketball tournament play. The win earned Castleford another chance at Murtaugh, which beat Rockland in the Devils' only tourney game so far. Rockland is finished with the tournament action for the year. The Bulldogs were rated as slight favorites going into the meet.

The Wolves grabbed a 30 lead at the start and never trailed, although the Bulldogs tied it five times in the first half, before Nolen Carter and Dave Driggs tied it with two free throws apiece.

Wayne Stahlecker gave the Wolves a seven-point gap at the start of the third and Marvin Allred and Carter opened it to 12. Carter hit five more and Stahlecker a three-point combination to make it 15. The Bulldogs managed only six points during the third.

Stahlecker hit again in the fourth to make it 17 before George Udy and Ron Nelson cut it to 13 with two quick buckets. The score varied between 13 and 15 until with about four minutes left the Wolves went into a stall and the Bulldogs started taking the ball away. Greg May and Nelson cut the gap to 11 before Allred dropped in two free throws. Jim Woodworth and May followed that with four points for the Bulldogs and then the Wolves threw a pass away and May dropped in a three-point combination to cut the gap to six. George Hartley was fouled seconds later and calmly dropped in two to cut it to four.

The Wolves threw it away again when trying to bring it in bounds. May grabbed it at the 10-second mark and tossed it to Merrill Stiedly under to the basket. Before Stiedly could get it off two Wolves were upon him and caused him to loop the ball over the basket.

Allred clinched it for the Wolves, hitting a field goal and two freethrows before the Bulldogs could score again and following Rockland's final tally with two more from the charity stripe.

Buckpasser Is Stakes Victor

MIAMI (AP) — Buckpasser, apparently a beaten horse one-sixteenth of a mile from the finish, rallied in the final strides Thursday and edged Abe's Hope in the belles Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park.

Abe's Hope, owned by the Grand Prix Stables of Chicago, came down the center of the track and bounded into a two-length lead as Willie Shoemaker battled on the rail with Buckpasser. With less than 70 yards to go in the 1½-mile race, Abe's Hope still held a half-length lead, but Buckpasser got up to win the purse of $88,660 and establish himself as the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby May 7.

Frick Takes Stand in Baseball Test

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The state of Wisconsin tried Thursday in its antitrust suit against baseball to forge a link between testimony taken from former Commissioner Ford Frick and what it called the "monopolistic ability of baseball to control the game."

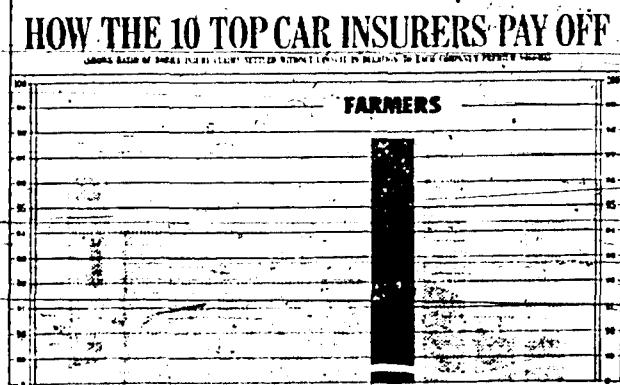

The issue is the key to the state's contention that baseball violated state antitrust statutes by moving the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta without giving the city another team. The subject triggered a flurry of objections from the defense, as did testimony from a tax accountant that the Braves produced more than $9 million for the Perini family for the 10 seasons they operated the club.

After examination of the tax accountant, the state began a reading of Frick's deposition, taken in New York in November, 1965. Attorneys for the Braves and National League immediately questioned the relevancy of the testimony.

Steven Keane, special counsel for Milwaukee County, argued the matter was relevant because the state intended, through Frick, to "identify the rules and regulations that contain the monopolistic ability of baseball to control the game."

This will show how baseball On Display at Wills Car Lot on can do what we charge they can."

The simple truth.

Declo Gains State Berth With 58-56 Victory in A-3 Tourney

SHOSHONE — Declo, after dropping its first tournament game to Oakley, managed to stay alive in the fourth district A-3 meet here Thursday night in a last-second 58-56 victory over Oakley. Declo will take on Glenns Ferry at 8:30 p.m. Friday in what may well be the title-game. If the Hornets knock off the Pilots Friday night they will meet again Saturday. Declo must win both for the tourney title, although the Hornets are assured of a state berth along with the Pilots. Declo utilized Oakley's foulng to stay in the game through the first three quarters. Declo had a one-point edge at the end of the first and came out four in front at the half.

Oakley's hot shooting from the floor gave it the lead several times and put the game in a 41-41 deadlock at the end of the third quarter. Chamberlain, his 7-foot-1 frame towering over a variety of guards with the Warriors' 6-foot-11 Nate Thurmond out with injuries, hooped 26 field goals and 10 free throws. It was the second highest single-game total of the season in the NBA, three points short of the 66 Chamberlain scored against Los Angeles. It was the eighth victory in 10 games for the 76ers over San Francisco and moved second-place Philadelphia to within 2½ games of first-place Boston in the Eastern Division with 10 games remaining, including a home-and-home series with the Celtics this weekend.

Chamberlain Hits 62, 76ers Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sixty-two points by Wilt Chamberlain carried the Philadelphia 76ers to a 133-125 victory over the injury-plagued San Francisco Warriors Saturday night in a National Basketball Association 41-41 deadlock at the end of the third quarter.

Declo pulled out in the fourth, taking a 58-56 lead with about a minute and a half to go. Doug Cranney dropped in a long set shot and a stolen ball cut the margin to four seconds later.

Declo then went into a stall and Oakley was held scoreless until Tolman hit with two seconds left, giving Declo the victory before the buzzer.

Valley's junior varsity squad won the JV championship with a 59-51 victory over Wood River.

YES, YES, TWIGGS, BUT HOW DO THESE TRIVIAL FINANCIAL DETAILS AFFECT THE DOG'S ADJUSTMENT TO HIS NEW HOME? WHY, I ACCOMPANIED MYSELF ON THE SAMISEN, BUT EVEN MUSIC DIDN'T HELP HIM TALK!

"There's six dollars and 10 cents in here. I'm saving it for a reckless day!"

Today's Market and Financial Report

NEW YORK (AP) — A continued stock market rally broke up into irregularity early this afternoon.

The strong technical rebound of yesterday still had some power left in early trading but it began to fade toward the end of the first hour and it dwindled thereafter.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.11 after showing a gain of .95-.24 after showing a gain of .23 at 10:30 a.m. (EST).

Electronics, aerospace issues, office equipments, chemicals and rails were among the early gainers.

Some of the fast-stepping volume leaders of Thursday were on the upbeat again, but they ran out of gas rather quickly.

As trading slackened the list was a hodge-podge of gains and losses running mostly from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 5 at .50-.9 with industrials up .5, rails up .2 and utilities up .3.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index at noon showed a minimal loss of .61 at 69.46.

The rails were bolstered to some extent by favorable news about the projected merger of Chicago & North Western and Chicago Great Western. C&NW gained about 2 and CGW around .6 points while the latter's preferred was up about 3.

Continued strength was displayed by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer and IBM, both up 2, but Xerex dropped a couple of points as did United Air Lines. Douglas Aircraft sank more than a point.

Transistor, yesterday's most active gainor, rose 1/4 to 17 1/2 on a delayed "opener" of 40,000 shares but it then slipped fractionally into minus territory. Rumors it was talking merger with Raytheon were denied. Raytheon gained a point at the start then showed a fractional net loss.

Collins Radio, which leaped 7 1/2 yesterday, was long delayed in opening, finally trading unchanged at 79 1/2 on an initial block of 27,000 shares.

Westinghouse Electric, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Airlines were among 1-point losers.

Prices were mixed in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. New Process rose about 1. Up about a point were Aerojet-General, Leecce-Neville, Lundy Electronics, Fractional gamers included Hoe & Co., CCI, Muter, Dynlectron, and Consolidated Oil & Gas. Among fractional losers were Syntex, Goldfield, Banff Oil and Atlas Consolidated Mining.

Corporate and U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Along Fences and Canals

Gus Erickson and son, Jack Erickson, sold eight registered Hereford bulls to Don Swager, of the Raff River Cattle Co., at Idaho.

Wesley Fink was cleaning up around his farm ranch in King Hill this week in preparation of starting to plow the acreage for planting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Meeker and family, who moved to King Hill last week from Monte Clair, Calif., have moved their household furnishings to a ranch near Burger, south of Twin Falls. Mr. Meeker will help farm for his father, Leland Hoshaw. The Meeker family visited with her mother, Mrs. Verle Meadows, and brother Ted Isle and family, while Mr. Meeker was seeking employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hall and family have moved into the Fred Crockett ranch, west of King Hill, which they have leased for an indefinite time.

Frank Anderson, American Falls; Marvin Robinson, Eldon Arriaga, Howard Robinson, Jed Baker and John Quintana helped brand calves at the Bob Robinson Ranch near Tuttle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Peterson are now living in the Blackwell area.

Mr. Crockett and his mother, Mrs. Emma Crockett, and his family, have moved to Mountain Home, where he is employed with the Shell Oil Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Peterson are now living in the Blackwell home south of Carey and is employed by Frank Pierret and Raymond Kohn at the Lazy Diamond P Ranch in the Fish Creek area. Their former employee, Joe Bennett, and his family have moved to Twin Falls, where he is employed with the City Fire Department.

Cattle Ranch Sells for $1,250,000

Sale of the Kerr-Peters, Inc., cattle ranching properties located in Twin Falls County and in Elko County, Nev., for $1,250,000 was announced by Thomas Kerr of Portland, Ore., president of Kerr-Peters, Inc., and by J. W. Peters, Twin Falls, vice president of Kerr-Peters, Inc.

The purchasers are a group headed by the Galaxie Realty and Investment Co., Salt Lake City, and by the Sahara Land and Realty Co., Mesa, Ariz.

The Kerr-Peters, Inc., ranch properties, which have been operating under the name of the Top Hat Ranches, consist of approximately 58,000-deeded acres and Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service grazing allotments. The transaction relating to the cattle is being handled by H. M. Sagers, Gooding, who is representing the purchasers.

It is anticipated the new owners will run from 2,000 to 2,500 cows on the combined ranching properties included in this transaction. The Kerr-Peters, Inc., ranches are considered among the finest and most economic cattle ranching operations in the Pacific Northwest and Intermountain areas.

Fifteen papers were drawn up and signed at meetings held by the principals in Phoenix, Ariz., over the past weekend and on Monday.

Kerr is president of Kerr Grain Corp. and Helix Milling Co., with head offices in Portland, Ore., and also is president of Hawaiian Flour Mills, Inc., in Honolulu, Hawaii. Peters will retain his own individual farming interests in the Twin Falls area.

Water Forecast Meet Set April 1

With the important water forecast meeting a little less than a month away, soil moisture is fair and the water content of the snow on the Roseworth-Salmon tract watershed is about normal for this time of year.

The announcement was made by Glen Nelson, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Twin Falls Soil Conservation District. He pointed out that although the water content is about normal the snow level at the present time is slightly below normal.

"But, there can be a lot of change between now and the April 1 water forecast meeting," Nelson said. The session, open to the public, is held annually at the Hollister Grange Hall. It gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

March 1 snow depths, as detailed in the district report, include Magic Mountain, 43 inches; Deadline Ridge, 49 inches; Shoshone Basin, 16.8 inches; Hummingbird Springs, 48.6 inches; Pole Creek, 43.6 inches; Bear Creek Meadows, 49 inches; Goat Creek, 40 inches; Cedar Creek, 31 inches; Fox Creek, 30.9 inches; Red Point, 30 inches, and Wilson Creek, 30 inches.

Water content in inches ranged from 16.7 at Bear Creek Meadows to 4.1 in Shoshone Basin.

Snow depth in each case at the same time last year was:

JEROME — A grand parade of stallions will feature the opening of the second annual auction of stallion services, sponsored by the Jerome Recreation Association, at Tink's Livestock Commission Yards in Jerome at 7:30 p.m. March 10.

The session will get underway at 1 p.m., with a luncheon. Guest speaker will be Tom Callen, Rogerson. He will talk on his trip to Australia and will show color slides.

Following the luncheon and program, the annual election will be held, incumbent supervisors whose terms expire are Erye Boies and Lester Agee.

The Purple Sage Cowbelles, headed by Mrs. Roy Mink, Gooding, have planned an afternoon program for all of the cattlemen's wives and guests.

A no-host luncheon will be held at noon in the Lincoln Inn. Several prizes will be awarded.

The evening activities will start at 5 p.m. in the Gooding

Grange Hall and will include a cocktail-hour hosted by the First Security Bank of Idaho.

A dance will conclude the convention. Music will be furnished by the Saints, a Western band from Twin Falls.

The Elmore Cattlemen's Association is a large tri-county organization made up of cattlemen from Camas, Elmore and Gooding Counties.

Officers are Allen Bauscher, Fairfield, president; William Trail, King Hill and Hill City, vice president; Mannie Shaw, Corral, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Leroy Hollowell, Bliss; Lee Trail, King Hill, and Wesley Fields, Corral.

Representatives from commodity groups, farm organizations and chemical dealers and applicators are invited," Jones said.

Response to this event last year filled the sale yard to standing-room capacity, and the committee anticipates an even better turn-out this year. Special invitations are being extended to members of the county fair board and the county commissioners.

The snack bar will be open for refreshments.

Idaho Potato Processing Is Reported

NOTE: Potato processing in Idaho (plus Idaho potatoes processed in Malheur County, Ore.) from July through January accounted for 18,710,000 hundredweight of raw potatoes, according to reports compiled from processors.

Of this, 18,838,000 hundredweight was used in the manufacture of food products and 872,000 hundredweight for starch and alcohol.

Of the 19,710,000 hundredweight processed, about 3,868,000 hundredweight came from the 10 southwest counties of Idaho; 18,926,000 from the other counties of Idaho, and 1,916,000 shipped into Idaho from other states.

The total quantity of potatoes used in processing during the first seven months of this marketing season was 46 per cent larger than the amount used during the same period last year — usage for food products was up 44 per cent and starch, flour and alcohol accounted for over twice the amount used a year earlier.

Soil Hearing Scheduled On March 14

A public hearing will be held by the State Soil Conservation Service at 8 p.m. March 14 at the Idaho Power Auditorium concerning creation of a new soil conservation district.

All persons operating farms not now in a soil conservation district, both owners and renters, are invited to attend and will be given an opportunity to state their views concerning the creation of a new district or extending the boundaries of present districts.

Doyle Scott, administrative officer of the State Soil Conservation Service, will conduct the hearing.

Scott said, "The hearing is being held in accordance with state law, as a result of a petition filed in the commission office signed by local farmers requesting the establishment of a soil conservation district."

Lamb Crop for 1965 Is Down From Average

BOISE — The 1965 lamb crop in Idaho is estimated at 888,000 head, according to the USDA crop reporting service for Idaho.

This compares with the 1964 lamb crop of 872,000 head and the 1959-63 average of 998,000 lambs-sheared.

The number of breeding ewes one year old and older on Jan. 1, 1965, was estimated at 779,000 head, the same as on Jan. 1, 1964, but 11 per cent below the 1959-63 average of 880,000 head.

The lamb crop percentage (number of lambs saved per 100 breeding ewes one year old and older on Jan. 1) was 114 in 1965. This compares with the 1964 percentage of 112 and the five-year average of 113 per cent. Idaho's current lamb crop percentage is the highest in the western states and is exceeded by only four other states in the nation.

Farmers Can Produce More Crops by 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has estimated American farmers could produce at least 50 per cent more by 1980 than they averaged yearly during the 1951-61 period.

By way of comparison, farm production last year was about 9 per cent above the 1951-61 average. Hence the production potential in 1980 would be about 40 per cent more than last year.

This new appraisal of agriculture's productive potential was made at a time when the United States plans to increase food assistance to hungry areas abroad. It said American farms "can more than keep pace with population growth and other factors expanding the domestic demand for farm products."

Wool Pool Meeting Held In Gooding

GOODING — Annual meeting for members of the Gooding County Wool Pool was held recently.

Robert Bolte, vice president, presided in absence of president Clarence Wells. Edward Koester, Gooding County agent and secretary, reported on last year's pool and also read the financial report.

The film on foot rot was explained by Wade Wells, extension animal husbandman, University of Idaho. March 1 was set as a deadline on signup for pool members.

Wells, Gooding, was re-elected president and F. E. Hulet, Wendell, was elected director. Holdover officers are Koester, Gooding, secretary; Bolte, Gooding, vice president, and directors Owen Boian, Wendell, and Charles Gee, Gooding.

Wade Wells exhibited the new wool standards and explained why the micron measurement would be very accurate in determining grades and would get away from the human element or error heretofore encountered in grading of wools.

It was announced that shearing schools will be held at Moscow, April 1 and 2; university

Agricultural Outlook for Idaho in 1966 Said Good

SALT LAKE CITY — The outlook for agriculture in Idaho is generally good for 1966, according to a news letter by First Security Corp.

Indicated are some increases in total income from farm marketing, in net farm income and net income per farm. During the first three months this year, cash receipts from farm marketing should be slightly higher than a year earlier. Low-experiment station at Caldwell, April 6 and 7, and the Aberdeen experiment station, April 8 and 9. Information was distributed on credit feeding of lambs for early development and rapid gains.

M. C. Claar, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, told growers of the Wool Act renewal and what it would mean to them in increased payments on the 1966 clip. He pointed out if it had not been for their help, and the help of other wool pool groups and individual sheepmen, this could never have been accomplished.

The increased payment will run three cents per pound over prior years.

alive and doing quite well. Olsen added these lambs probably will be used as project lambs for 4-H and FFA projects. (Times-News photo) the largest in 12 years, winter wheat the largest ever, the letter added.

The outlook for production in 1966 is just slightly below the 1965 level. Production increases were reported for hops, a record year; dry beans and onions, but prices of some of these crops were lower.

Output of most seed was considerably below previous years, and was due principally to the cooler, rainy summer and early frost.

Cattle prices at the end of the year were generally some four dollars above those of late 1964.

These were reflected in increased income to the grower and to the feedlot operator.

Broiler production is up slightly but so are per capita and total consumption. The news letter added milk production is slightly lower, but prices are slightly higher than a year ago.

According to the news letter, crop production total tonnage in 1965 established a new record. The potato crop of 61.7 million cwt. exceeded the previous record by seven per cent and was almost double that of 1964.

However, potatoes in storage at year end were at a new record, but half of these are expected to go into processing plants for food as well as for flour and starch. There may be some loss from storage because of the relatively higher temperatures at time of storage.

Wheat production in 1965 was

Science Now Pointing Home Lawn Growers to Potash

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Science now points home lawn growers to potash — the neglected nutrient, that third number on the fertilizer bag — as a vital element for toughening grass against weather damage and disease attack.

A new, full color folder, just issued by the American Potash Institute, presents what modern research has learned about the role of potash in building and keeping a quality lawn.

The eight-panel fact sheet points out the importance of nitrogen to the homeowner, the first nutrient (number) on the bag, especially for rich, green growth — and the importance of phosphorus, the second nutrient (number) on the bag, especially when establishing a lawn.

It shows how nitrogen-rich growth coming thick and soft needs enough potash in the lawn fertilizer to help build strong food reserves in the cell sap and roots against witterkill . . . to slow down plant breathing rate and reduce water loss against summer heat . . . and to help toughen grass leaves against wilt, traffic and disease.

It cites soil test surveys showing between 60 and 90 per cent of the lawn and turf soil testing low to medium (inadequate) in potassium. It reminds the lawn maker to replace the nutrients removed in grass clippings — and cites the amount of nitrogen, phosphate and potash removed with two different grasses. In addition to plant food needs, it gives a brief check-off list on grass selection, liming, weed-insect caution, mowing and watering.

FIRES DROP
Forest fires in 1965 burned the smallest acreage in the national forests in the 60-year history of the Forest Service—some 76,000 acres compared to 163,000 in 1964. Of 9,300 fires only 4,000 were man-caused.

Camas Farms Participate In Program

FAIRFIELD — Manager Russell Pate, of the Camas County ASC office, states that 86 per cent of the farms have participated in the Agricultural Conservation program during the past five years. In 1965 they earned $24,095.59.

In emergencies, such as the flood experienced in 1964-65, funds were made available for restoration and rehabilitation of farmland. Total payments earned were $23,990.53, with 20 farms being involved.

Pate said $9,608.47 was the amount loaned under the Commodity Loan program. Contracts still active under the Conservation Reserve program included 18 whole farms and two part-farm contracts with 5,733.5 acres removed from production. Total payment earned was $61,403.77.

A net of $481,393.81 was paid to Camas County farmers under the various ASC programs for the year of 1965 according to the annual report. The office also processed damage and loss forms for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. for an additional $93,865.68 to farmers.

Additional Sugar Limits Are Raised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has announced it will permit importation of additional sugar above the amount already authorized for the first quarter of the year. The purpose, it said, will be to check rising consumer prices.

The department originally had limited first quarter imports under a sugar control program to 700,000 tons. But it recently raised this to 800,000 tons in a move to hold price advances.

With prices continuing to move upward, the department said Wednesday that it will approve requests for authority to bring in additional amounts between now and April 1. It did not specify the total additional quantity it will allow to enter the United States.

A previously set limit of one million tons for the second quarter of the year continues in effect.

The control program is designed to stabilize prices and supplies of sugar through a system of quotas for areas and countries entitled under law to share in the U. S. market.

Milk Testing Program Eyed At Jerome

JEROME — Eventual goal of U.S. Public Health Service is the nation-wide standardization of Grade A testing to insure even quality and facilitate interstate shipment, it was noted at a meeting representing some 400 milk producers of southern Idaho at Jerome last week.

Dr. Robert Hibbs, of Hibbs Laboratories, Boise, spoke on recent improvements and innovations in the testing field. Primary purpose of the meeting, hosted by Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc., was to explain and discuss ways of implementing the 1965 code recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service.

This code already has been adopted by Lewiston and Spokane and by the state of Montana.

The government is asking the milk producers support of the public health program by allowing designated dairy scientist fieldmen in their employ to serve in dual capacity as certified inspectors of state health departments.

These fieldmen will work under the supervision of local health department inspectors, thus lightening their work load and obtaining broader implementation of the program. A

Area Youths To Attend 4-H Meet

Three out of four delegates from Idaho to the National 4-H conference in Washington, D.C., April 17-22, are from Magic Valley, it was announced in Twin Falls.

They are Carolyn Van Zante, Twin Falls; Allan Ravenscroft, Tuttle, and Roger Wurst, Gant.

Attending the conference is one of the highest honors in 4-H club work, said Daniel E. Warren, state leader. Each state sends two boys and two girls who have demonstrated leadership and accomplishment in club activities. The delegates study citizenship in the nation's capital. They attend sessions of the Congress, hear talks by government leaders and visit historic sites.

Miss Van Zante, 19, is a freshman in home economics at the University of Idaho. She is the daughter of Mrs. W. D. Van Zante. Her father, a well known area resident, died suddenly about mid-February. Miss Van Zante has been a 4-H member for 10 years.

Ravenscroft, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ravenscroft. He is a freshman in forestry at the University of Idaho. During his nine years of 4-H work he has won state and national forestry awards.

Wurst, 18, is a high school senior who plans to study forestry at the University of Idaho. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wurst and has been in 4-H eight years.

Similar program has long been standard in the meat packing industry.

Other speakers at the two-day session were Carroll Despain, Boise, state sanitarian with the Idaho Dept. of Public Health, and Dr. John L. Barnhart, professor of the Department of Dairy Science at the University of Idaho, Moscow.

The meeting at Jerome followed a similar one held earlier in Moscow for milk producers in the Northern area.

Dinner Meet

Members of the Idaho Association of Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service office employees from eight Magic Valley counties will meet Friday, March 11 at Kay's Supper Club, Twin Falls.

The dinner session will be hosted by Twin Falls county, according to J. Osmer Lowe.

In addition to Twin Falls, other counties represented will be Blaine, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln and Minidoka.

Speaker at the dinner session, starting at 8 p.m., will be O. A. (Gus) Kelker, Times-News feature-farm editor. He will tell of the history and show color slides on Silver City, the famed Idaho ghost town in Owyhee county.

Annual Convention Held For Western Meat Packers

LOS ANGELES — Meat packer of western America, at the 20th annual convention of the Western States Meat Packers Association here recently, gave top priority to combatting a railroad freight rate reduction, which they believe places their $2-billion-industry-in-dire peril.

They called a meeting in San Francisco March 4 and summoned to it all segments of the industry, including cattlemen, livestock feeders, dairymen, poultry producers and farm organizations, to join them in planning how to meet the situation.

They extended an invitation to the presidents of seven major railroads operating west of the Mississippi River to meet with them in San Francisco March 18 to discuss the economic implications of the situation.

The rate reduction which touched off this counter attack reduces by 50 per cent previous rates on westbound shipments of dressed meat when shipped in quantities of 75,000 pounds or more, opening Western markets to Midwestern packers.

At the same time, the packers heard the optimistic prediction of their president, L. Blaine Liljengren, that the meat industry will be able to fight off President Johnson's proposals to extend federal meat inspection to intrastate shipments and to shift the $42 million annual cost of federal inspection to the meat industry.

With 2,800 registrants, the convention was one of the association's best attended. U. S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., headed the list of convention speakers.

The packers re-elected Liljengren association president; Eugene Ranconi, Walti Schilling Co., Santa Cruz, secretary; Anton Rieder, Coast Packing Co., Los Angeles, treasurer, and Norman H. Maffit, San Francisco, vice president.

Five new vice presidents were elected, including Homer Glover, Glover Packing Co., Roswell, N. M.; Glenn Johnson, Valley Meat Co., Marysville, Calif.; James McDonald, Western Packing Co., Los Angeles, and Arthur L. Sigman, Sigman Meat Co., Denver.

The E. Floyd Forbes trophy for distinguished service to the western meat packing industry named for the association's first president, was awarded to Paul Blackman, Acme Meat Co., Los Angeles, a past chairman-of-the-association's board cause the industry is so united nationwide and so well supported by other organizations that we will prevail against the proposals."

An outgrowth of the freight rate controversy was the organization at the convention of the Western States Feed Transportation Committee, whose chief concern will be prices and freight rates affecting livestock feeders. Association Vice President Mattie was named executive director of the committee.

Authorization to extend meat inspection and transfer its cost to the packers will not succeed, President Liljengren stated, "be-nationwide and so well supported by other organizations that we will prevail against the proposals."

Assessing the 1968 outlook for his industry and for consumers, Liljengren foresees abundant meat supplies at slightly higher prices.

Cattlemen's Association to Sponsor Annual Filer Spring Range Bull Sale

FILER — The Idaho Cattlemen's Association will sponsor its 27th annual Filer Spring Range Bull Sale March 12 at the Filer Fairgrounds, beginning at 11 a.m.

Colin McLeod Jr., Caldwell, manager of the sale and chairman of the association's bull sale committee, wrote local officials that everything is in readiness for the sale.

McLeod stated there are 210 head of Hereford range bulls, some are polled, all over 18 months and under 30 months of age, consigned to the sale by registered cattle breeders from Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Wyoming.

"All of the bulls are registered and will be graded into classes of A, A+, B and B by Walter Schodde, Burley, commercial cattlemen; Jim Cahill, Weiser, purebred breeder; and T. Donald Bell, Moscow, University of Idaho," said McLeod. Grading will begin at 10 a.m. March 11.

Each bull will be inspected for visual defects by Dr. D. A. Jackson, deputy state veterinarian from Twin Falls, during the grading at the fairgrounds.

McLeod also stated the Filer sale has maintained its record of being the largest spring range bull sale in the Northwest and has been long noted for its outstanding offering of top quality bulls of excellent type, breeding characteristics, classification and ability to produce top calves.

"You can depend on the Idaho Cattlemen's bull sales to gather uniform bulls so both the small and large cattle operators can purchase the type and quality most suitable for their particular operation," he declared.

McLeod pointed out that now, more than any other year, is when good bulls, that produce bigger, better calves and a higher percentage calf crop, will make higher returns.

He urged cattlemen to buy the best bulls available and they will be found at the Idaho Cattlemen's Association sponsored sales where each bull is inspected and graded. Don't try to economize by buying low quality, inferior range bulls, he said.

The Idaho Cattlemen's Association, in its continual program of improving the quality of Idaho beef and for the convenience of the cattlemen of Idaho, began these sales 22 years ago. The sales, in the fall at Filer, Idaho Falls and Caldwell, and this spring at Filer, have brought the best of breeding bulls to these central points for the convenience of both the consignor and the buyer.

Auctioneers will be St. Williams, Walla Walla, Wash., and Clayton Tschirgi, Fruitland. Members of the Idaho Cattlemen's bull sale committee in-

signors are Albert Wolfkiel, Meridian; Aslet Zollinger, Malta, and Heber J. Zollinger, Malta.

McLeod said the letters of invitation are being mailed to those selected by 4-H Club leaders in various areas. Some of the possible donors will be called upon personally by a 4-H Club leader.

The letter being mailed explains to the prospective donor that 4-H Club people decided they would do their best on their own before they asked others to help. At this point, the 4-H people have raised half the $80,000 required to build the camp, and half the total camp is built and paid for, the agent said.

"We are very proud of our progress and we take great pride in asking other people to help us complete this camp by the end of June this year," Genn said.

It is impossible to send letters to all people who would like to contribute to the building of this camp. For this reason, the committee in charge of the camp building campaign urges all who would like to contribute either mail or bring their contribution to the county agent's office.

Genn's final comment was, "This camp will be used this summer and it will be made available to as many other youth organizations as possible."

Wheat Official Expresses Optimism for Asian Market

BOISE — A touring Western Wheat Associates official from Idaho has expressed optimism at the growing market potential in Southeast Asia.

Donald How, Bonners Ferry, a member of the board of directors of the organization promoting foreign marketing operations for wheat, said food supplies in Asia cannot keep pace with the rapid increases in population.

"In the Philippines, the population of 32 million is expected to double within the next 20 years," he said. "Last year, the country purchased some 200,000 tons of U. S. wheat and this crop year, the total purchase will probably run nearer to 300,000 tons."

Howe is on a supervisory trip through the Asian areas with Richard K. Baum, executive vice president of Western Wheat Associates.

Baum said an aggressive market development program will continue to be the major factor in expanding U. S. wheat sales in Asia.

"While growing populations and expanding economies provide a favorable environment for increased U. S. wheat consumption, larger sales depend largely upon the salesman's ability to make the customer want to buy his product," he said.

Baum said there are a number of small countries in Asia which, by themselves, do not represent a very big market for U. S. wheat.

"However, when you consider three or four of them as

Plastic

GENEVA — With the Swiss mountain shepherd becoming a part of the past and yodeling preempted by the juke box, plastic pipelines are coming into their own in solving the transportation problem of Alpine dairymen, according to Butterfat magazine.

Because of the labor shortage, dairymen are using pipelines, about half an inch in diameter, to bring fresh milk from mountain pastures.

One dairyman has over 30 miles of milk pipelines. Another line, over 10 miles long, starts at an 8,000-foot altitude. Transport by motorized vehicle costs six cents a gallon, but only two cents a gallon by pipeline.

the current level of U. S. wheat sales in Asia, coupled with the expanding potential is encouraging.

Baum admitted that U. S. wheat producers face some problems in the Asian market area.

"This is true of any selling situation where there is a high degree of competition in a growing market," he said.

"In Malaysia, for example, where there were no flour mills two months ago, there is now one mill in operation and three under construction. Similar stories can be told throughout Southeast Asia.

Filer Student Is West Magic Valley FFA Public Speaking Contest Winner

FILER — Glen Miller of the Filer Future Farmers of America, won the West Magic Valley FFA public speaking contest held recently in the Filer High School auditorium.

Second place was won by Leon Plestic of the Jerome chapter and David Sommers of Twin Falls was the third place winner.

Representing their respective chapters were James Conrad, Gooding; Steven Miller, Camas County; Chester Brackett, Haegerman; John Hunt, Carey, and Daniel Faulkner, Shoshone.

Awards were presented to the three winners by Thiesen Motor Co., Twin Falls, which presents attractive trophies each year to the winners of the West and East Magic Valley districts, as well as the area winner.

Judges for the contest were Donald Youtz, county extension agent; Leslie Jackson, vocational agriculture instructor for Castleford High School, and Donald Howard, field manager for the Green Giant Canning Co., Buhl.

Miller stated in his speech that one out of every two persons in the world will go to bed hungry. This is hard to realize, but compared to American standards, one-half of the world's population have never had an adequate diet.

Miller said that the Malthusian principle, named after economist Robert Malthus, is about to come true. It has been well over a century and a half ago that Malthus stated that the increases in world population would eventually outrun ability to produce food. The trend in world food production today indicates that he was fairly correct.

"With one-half of the world hungry now and certain to be a lot hungrier, we haven't a moment to lose. We must comprehend this frightening prospect and think about what we will do, both with regard to our own farm plant and our program of helping the hungry world," Miller stated.

"But where are the real acute food shortages? Food experts class much of Asia, Latin America and Africa, except for the southern tip, as having very inadequate diets."

"Asia contains 56 per cent of the world's population, but only 31 per cent of its arable land. Many Latin American countries exported their surplus wheat a few years ago. Today, the opposite is true. Africa, in all her turmoil, finds food her greatest problem," Miller commented.

Miller said that against this dark frightening picture of the world's needs, beams a shining star — the example of the American farmer. The American farmer has amazed the world again and again as he sets new production records. His tremendous growth in output can easily be seen as the backbone of the expanding economy.

It was only about 50 years ago that the American farmer produced enough to feed five other persons and himself. To day, through the growth of science and the use of machines, he is able to feed 33 persons and himself.

Miller stated, "The policy has been in the past to hold down production in the United States. The time has come to revise our farm policy and relax farm controls. The American farmer in general faces radical changes in the future. It is of prime importance that we Americans

Meet Slated For Alfalfa Seed Growers

Alfalfa seed growers and other persons interested in the alfalfa seed industry are invited to a meeting beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Roundup Room of the Rogerson Hotel, announced Twin Falls County Agent, Donald Youtz.

Speakers will be Roland Portman, University of Idaho extension entomologist, who will discuss care and management of pollinating insects, control of predator insects, and general insect control. Howard Roylance, University of Idaho extension agronomist, will cover weed and fodder control, use of defoliants, and cultural practices in growing alfalfa seed.

Market trends in alfalfa seed production will be discussed by Robert Hadley, Intermountain division production manager of Northrup King and Co., Boise.

Two Twin Falls County alfalfa seed growers, Eldon Durk, Hansen, and J. W. Beck, Murchison, will discuss personal experiences and problems encountered in growing alfalfa seed.

"Where does your Land Bank money come from?"

"Lots of farmers and ranchers think the federal government provides the money for Federal Land Bank loans. Not so. The Land Bank raises the money for loans by selling bonds to the investing public."

"And the whole Land Bank system is completely owned by member borrowers. The moment you take out a loan through your local Association, you are part of management. You have a vote in electing local farmers and ranchers to serve as directors. You share in earnings, too."

"With your long-term loan you get the lowest possible interest rate plus all the ownership benefits. It's worth your time to spread these facts. The more farmers and ranchers who know about the Federal Land Bank system and use it, the better for all of us."

"Another thing: Today you can get a loan for nearly any purpose—on or off your farm."
